Check Fares Caught in West.
William Hamilton, alias J. Scott Howland, who is charged in this city with having passed several worthless checks at hotels and business houses several months ago, was arrested in Minneapolis, Minn., last night, according to a message Maj. Sylvester received from Chief Martinson. Hamilton furnished bond in the sum of $500 and failed to appear for trial. His bond was forfeited. It is probable that the prisoner will be returned to this city by his bondman.

Dr. and Mrs. V. T. Sowers have returned to the city.

Last Wednesday night the home of Mr. Charles T. Williams, 221 Jefferson street northwest, was a scene of much merriment, the occasion being a linen shower given to Miss Frances M. Jacobsen. The dining room and parlors were handsomely decorated, the color scheme being pink and white. After several games had been played and prizes awarded to Miss Elsie Schaefer and Mrs. C. E. Jacobsen, the guests adjourned to the dining room, where the prospective bride opened her lovely gifts, all tied in pink satin ribbons and placed in a large pink basket. Refreshments were served at 11:30, the cake being iced in pink and ornamented by a few pink roses.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

MISS ETHEL LEE LLOYD AND J. CARL CHASE MARRIED.

Other Weddings Here and Elsewhere

of Interest—Travel Plans.

Representative and Mrs. James Tilghman Lloyd have sent cards to many Washington friends, announcing the marriage Wednesday, September 30, at Shelbyville, Mo., of their daughter, Ethel Lee, and Mr. J. Carl Chase of St. Louis.

At home cards for Mr. and Mrs. Chase are enclosed for 4172 Russell avenue, St. Louis, after November 1.

Mrs. John K. Richards, whose late husband was the solicitor general in the McKinley administration, has returned from Europe, where she has lived since her husband's death. She will spend the winter in this city and has taken an apartment at the Woodley. Miss Christine Richards, her daughter, will be a debutante of the coming season.

Mrs. Hoke Smith and Miss Callie Hoke Smith are in Atlanta and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ransom. Mrs. Smith will remain in the city for several months. Miss Smith, after a visit of several weeks to her sister, the debutante, a French embroidered lingerie dress, and an older sister wore old-fashioned dancing and refreshments at small tables on the sheltered porches were features of the hospitality.

The first of the eighty debut teas expected in Philadelphia society this season took place yesterday, when Mrs. Charles D. Williams presented at Heatherfield, her Bryn Mawr place, Miss Ada Lambert Wetherill. The hostess wore dark blue velvet, the debutante a French embroidered lingerie dress, and an older sister wore old-fashioned dancing and refreshments at small tables on the sheltered porches were features of the hospitality.

Dr. Frank Anderson, U. S. N., and Mrs. Anderson have returned from Europe and have opened their home on 19th street for the season. Miss Anderson will spend the winter in New York, devoting herself to her art studies.

Miss Florence Gundorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gundorf, and Mr. Samuel M. Revness of Philadelphia were married last night at the home of the bride, 2429 18th street, in the presence of the relatives and close friends of the young couple. The ceremony was performed in the bay window of the main drawing room under the direction of the Rev. Dr. Louis Stern of the Eighth Street Temple, a relative of the bride.

The youthful bride, who is a petite blond, was given away by her father and escorted to the altar by her brother, Sam. Kallisher, who also sang "O Promise Me" during the ceremony. The bride was of soft white satin with a tulle of tulle. The waist was covered in tulle with touches of pink and white embroidery. Her tulle veil was held in place with a cap and streamers of point lace and a handkerchief. The bride carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a white Bible with a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The marriage of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gundorf, a cousin of the bride, wore yellow chamoise and carried an armful of pink and white flowers. The bride's going-away gown was of dark brown plush broadcloth, with a becoming hat of velvet to match, trimmed with silver, and a pair of black lace shoes. Many beautiful wedding gifts were shown to the guests on the upper floor. Mrs. Gundorf, mother of the bride, wore black chamoise covered in chamoise lace, with trimmings of gold, and a corsage bouquet of violets. Mrs. Revness, mother of the groom, wore black chamoise and violets. The bride's going-away gown was of dark brown plush broadcloth, with a becoming hat of velvet to match, trimmed with silver, and a pair of black lace shoes.
